

Cloud Engineer Job Description

Summary of the Role

The Cloud Engineer will be a key member of Lhasa's cloud engineering team, responsible for delivering, deploying and managing cloud based products both on public and private cloud platforms. The role will involve working with and within many Lhasa functions, in order to support the readiness, delivery and lifecycle of Lhasa's cloud products to our members. The role will be required to meet and follow all current and future technical best practices in order for Lhasa to achieve and exceed the highest standards and expectations of our members.

Reports to

- Lead Cloud Engineer

Primary Responsibilities

- To be actively involved in the day-to-day service management activities and contribute towards the growth and adoption of Lhasa's cloud and SaaS products
- Engaging with other teams and functions in order for Lhasa to fulfil it's cloud strategy. Be a subject matter expert for cloud related queries
- Supporting team members and functions in finding and executing appropriate solutions to their issues, challenges and future requirements
- Conserving and where required transforming and improving Lhasa's technical standards to follow industry best practices
- Administrating and maintaining Lhasa's cloud environments for both internal functions and our members
- Monitoring cloud resources for maintenance, support and security purposes

Candidate Profile

Education and Qualifications

- AWS Cloud technology certification Essential

Skills and Knowledge

- Excellent organisational and communication skills Essential
- Cloud based technologies and evolving capabilities Essential
- Cloud related security standards and best practices Desirable
- Cloud based product architectures Desirable
- Working knowledge of Infrastructure as code Desirable
- Working Knowledge of Linux and relational databases Desirable

Experience

- Working with existing cloud-based infrastructure Essential
- Implementing new cloud-based infrastructure Essential
- Administration and maintenance of cloud-based infrastructure Essential
- Hands on with firewalls, loadbalancing, DNS and other common networking tasks Essential
- Troubleshooting and problem resolution Essential
- Working with the business and other stakeholders to deliver cloud-based applications Desirable
- Architecting custom cloud-based infrastructure Desirable
- Working within an Agile/scrum based environment Desirable

Personal Characteristics

- A growth mindset, willingness to learn new skills Essential
- Initiative, drive and self-motivation Essential
- Accurate and good attention to detail Essential
- Supportive Essential